Assisted Living & Nursing Homes

Medicaid regulations have changed, and you're facing strict managed care compliance. We can guide you through it.

It takes a healthcare expert to set the right course for compliance.

The healthcare accounting services team at Demasco, Sena & Jahelka LLP can direct you through the financial, operational and complex regulatory issues of your organization.

Our extensive experience in residential healthcare can assist skilled nursing facilities and assisted living programs to focus on specific regulatory requirements to ensure organizational compliance with government agencies.

DS&J can assist you in the improvement of specific operational aspects of your organization by working with your management team to develop the appropriate agreed-upon procedures to make certain you are meeting the requirements of, and reaching your goals in, a highly regulated environment.

Because of our healthcare knowledge, we are able to provide agreed-upon procedures services to issue a report of findings based on specific tests and procedures performed.

Our combination of experience and knowledge gives us the know-how to address key risk areas—billings and payments, medical necessity and quality of care, governance, mandatory reporting, credentialing—that affect all types of residential healthcare providers.

Our goal is to provide you with top-tier professional services. As a full-service accounting firm, we can help you navigate through the rapidly changing healthcare environment.

Regulatory compliance services:

- Inspection of specified documents evidencing certain types of transactions.
- Confirmation of specific information with third parties.
- Comparison of documents, schedules or analyses with certain specified attributes.
- Verification of mathematical accuracy of specified transactions and documents.
- Performance of specific procedures on work performed by others.

The penalties are steep.
DS&J can protect your interests.
